PHELPS' COLE.—W. S. Phelps, the keeper of the Owingsville cemetery, got a march on the folks here by getting married to Miss Callie Cole at Howard's Hotel, Mt. Sterling, on the evening of May 22. Judge H. H. Hazelrigg performed the ceremony. The bride couple came to Mr. Phelps' home here that night, and not until next morning were his friends generally aware of his supreme happiness. The bride is an attractive young lady, the daughter of J. B. Cole, of near Jeffersonville, Montgomery county. Mr. Phelps is a good citizen, noted for his hustling industry and business-like qualities. He and his bride have the Tax Outlook's congratulations and best wishes.

TOBACCO ASSOCIATION.—Thirty-five delegates attended the meeting at Lexington last week of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Association. The plan agreed on contemplates the issuance of $1,500,000's worth of capital stock, one-half preferred and one-half common. This is to be subscribed by the growers to provide a basis for securing the funds necessary to handle the crop. It is claimed that the success of the organization will be determined by July 1 and contracts will terminate November 1 if the company fails.
BACCALAUREATE SERMON.—There was an unusually large attendance at the M. E. Church last Sunday evening to enjoy the baccalaureate sermon delivered by Rev. E. E. Holmes. It was a masterly presentation and was appreciated by the large congregation. The music was also very entertaining feature, and the profuse floral decorations in the church demonstrated that the good ladies of the congregation understand how to make their handsome little church even more attractive and beautiful. Rev. Sanders of the Christian Church assisted in the exercises, and all through it was a most enjoyable affair.—Warren Independent.

TOBACCO WAREHOUSE BURNED.—The tobacco warehouse of Snedegar Bros., of Wyoming, situated at Old Snedegar's home on the Oklahoma, containing some 90,000 lbs. of tobacco, caught fire about 11 o'clock Sunday morning and burned with all its contents. It is reported that there was $10,000 insurance. The fire was discovered by Cud Snedegar, but when he opened the door the smoke and flames prevented him from entering. It was at first thought that boys playing in the warehouse had started the fire, but it was learned later that a tramp had slept in the barn all night and come out and disappeared shortly before the flames broke out.
TOBACCO CROP PROSPECTS.—Reports from the agents of the county vary as to the amount of tobacco transplanted and also as to the plant prospects. Some report one-fourth the crop set and not enough plants to set more than one-half. For the whole county we should judge that about one-fourth of the projected acreage has been transplanted and that there will not be plants enough to finish by at least 25 per cent. Many plant beds were ruined or badly damaged by the heavy rains, and cut-worms and other insects have worked much injury also.
P. R. Stone is advised by a Louisville tobacco man that about one-half of the Burley crop in the State has been transplanted.
DIED.—Frankfort, Kansas, May 25, 1905.—Mrs. Margaret Warren died at the family home, one mile east of Bigelow, Tuesday, May 25, 1905, at 11:15 p. m. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. Anderson, of Barnes, at the Christian Church at 3:30 p. m. Wednesday, May 24, and the remains were interred in the Wells cemetery. The cause of her death was heart trouble, it being so sudden that it was a great shock to her relatives and friends. She seemed to be in good health when she retired, but about 11 o'clock she awakened her husband, telling him she was sick, and in less than ten minutes death had claimed her. None of her children could reach her bedside.
Margaret Jackson was born February 5, 1844, in Bath county, Kentucky. She was united with the Christian church at the age of 15 and lived a true Christian until death. She was married to Martin V. Warren in 1860. To this union were born seven children, six of whom are living: Mrs. Elizabeth Neeter, of Bigelow, Kansas; Mrs. Anna Scott, who died in 1896 at Barrett, Kansas; Mrs. Nannie Williams, of Buffalo, Ill.; Mrs. America Williams, of Stillwater, Ill.; Mrs. Jennie Williams, of Buffalo, Ill.; Mrs. Helen Wells, of Barrett, Kas. and J. T. Warren, of Bigelow, Kas. She also leaves 26 grandchildren, other relatives and friends to mourn their loss. ***

AFTER FORTY YEARS.—In the fall of 1864 the brigade of Kentucky cavalry serving in Southwestern Virginia and Tennessee under General Cosby was ordered to reinforce General Early's army in the valley of Virginia. On the way the command camped one night two miles east of Salem, Va., in the Roanoke valley. Captain Edward O. Guerrant, who was Adjutant of the brigade, left a box of valuable official papers with a farmer near the camp, saying he would get them on his return. Sheridan's cavalry had been overrunning the valley of Virginia, and he feared these war papers might be captured. After a hard campaign in the famous valley of the Shenandoah the Kentucky cavalry returned to the Western Department by another way.
Years rolled by and a generation of men passed away since the close of the great war. All hope of ever seeing the box of papers was abandoned and even the name of the farmer with the box forgotten. But recently Captain (now Dr.) Guerrant visited the city of Roanoke, Virginia, to preach for Dr. Campbell. While there he and Dr. Campbell visited Salem, only seven miles distant, and spent an evening with Rev. Harry Campbell, the pastor of the church. While at Mr. Campbell's residence his neighbor Mr. William McCaulley, an old soldier, called to see Dr. Guerrant and talk over war times. During the conversation Dr. O. mentioned leaving his box of official war papers near that town at a farm house, on Mason's Creek, more than forty years before; but had no idea of ever hearing of it again. Mr. McCaulley replied that his own mother lived in that house at that time, but was dead long ago, and the farm sold; and he had the box at his own house next door. Of course, it was a great surprise and pleasure to Dr. Guerrant, who never expected to see it again. Mr. McCaulley was not at home during the war, but on the death of his parents and the sale of the farm he brought the box to his house and preserved it ever since, not knowing to whom it belonged. Probably no other person in the country would have preserved it for so long; but Mr. McCaulley has been Clerk of Court for many years and accustomed to the care of papers. It was a strange providence, and Mr. McCaulley was about as much gratified in returning it to its owner as he was to recover it. Dr. Guerrant brought it home with him to Kentucky as a cherished relic of his soldier life.
It contains the rosters and field returns of the regiments of the brigade; reports of battles and marches; letters from Generals Longstreet, Ransom, Duke, Gilmer, Colonels Johnson, Pryor, Prentice, Slem, Pridemore, Alston, Captains Centill, Everett, Jenkins, etc. The letter of Capt. McAfee giving account of the recovery of General Morgan's body at Greenville, Tenn.; beautiful maps of the country by Maj. Henry T. Stanton, and 500 other papers telling of the trials and triumphs of those Kentucky soldiers 40 years ago. Dr. Guerrant proposes to return them to those who are still living as sacred mementos of the days that tried men's souls. This is a striking illustration of the old saying "Truth is stranger than fiction."

WHAT HE CAME FOR.—Robert B. Mantell tells of a clergyman who went fishing. He was perched in a precarious position when he got a bite, and in his excitement he fell into the stream.
He yelled lustily for help, and a farmer came along and pulled him out.
"How did you come to fall in?" inquired his rescuer.
"I didn't come to fall in," replied the dripping preacher, "I came to fish."—New York Telegram.
